NOTE FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Dear Hudson Families,

Thank you for attending Parent Teacher Conferences, your support for your student is greatly appreciated.

It has been a very exciting week here at Hudson. Students have been eagerly turning in their pie orders, with the incentive to throw a pie at me if they sold 15 items. I can hardly wait to find out how many students were motivated by my challenge. I look forward to having many pies thrown at me all in good fun. I want you to know how much I truly enjoy having daily interaction with your kids.

Students are continuing to make progress towards their AR reading goals. We will have our 1st quarter AR celebration on Friday, October 28th. Please continue to encourage your child to read. On the subject, reading should be part of their nightly homework. When your child finishes their assigned homework please have them read. Independent reading is a skill that needs to be developed in our students. Reading is a life skill that will help students have greater success with all of their subjects.

Have an enjoyable weekend and remember students do not have school on Friday.

Thank you for the vital part you play in helping us reach our goal of high student achievement at Hudson!
